Victor Fifth Graders Will Get New Teacher

Students in Quinon Johnston's fifth grade class at Victor Elementary School have a surprise waiting for them when they go to school next Monday morning.

Johnston won't be there, but a new teacher will be ready to pick up the lessons and continue class work.

Some fifth grade students in Peter L. Dyson's fifth grade class in Pontefract, England, will have much the same kind of surprise awaiting them as well.

IT ALL CAME about this week when the Board of Education approved an exchange teacher program at the request of the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Dyson will be at Victor School, and Johnston will greet a new class in England.

The mid-year change came about after Dyson had spent the fall semester in schools in Richmond, Va. His exchange teacher was called back from England after an illness in his family and unable to complete his assignment in England, so the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare began looking for another teacher. In the process, they discovered Torrance had approved a year exchange assignment for Johnston next year and asked if the date could be advanced.

BOARD APPROVAL was granted Monday evening and Johnston and Dyson will probably pass each other in an airplane sometime this weekend.

Dr. Robert Morton, assistant superintendent for personnel, said the Torrance schools have participated in the exchange program for several years. "The results have been gratifying," he added. Dr. Morton is enthusiastic about the exchange program, and adds that he has a very good report on Dyson.

DYSON, who is 26, will teach the fifth grade class for the remainder of the year. Johnston will be in Pontefract for the rest of the term, and may remain in England for the 1964-65 school year, too.

In the meantime, the fifth graders at Victor are preparing to welcome their new teacher.

Carson High Students to Hear Johnson

Students from Carson High School will join more than 1,900 others in the Los Angeles City Schools tomorrow for a trip to the University of California at Los Angeles for Charter Day exercises.

Charter Day exercises at UCLA will feature President Lyndon B. Johnson of the United States and President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico as speakers. University President Clark Kerr also will speak.

Carson will send 34 students from the leadership and language classes on campus. The group will be accompanied by at least one faculty member.

Buses will leave Carson High at 8:20 a.m. and return about noon.
